

SUCCESS.

Success is something that surely everybody wants to have in their life. But it won't be easy at all. Success you can define as an accomplishment of an aim or purpose. So, mostly everyone has a goal or a dream to achieve in their life. For that they will work hard. But for this you have to know how you will achieve your goal and if this goal will lead to your success. Furthermore there are some factors which are important to reach it.

The first ever success a person has achieved in their life was when he was a child. He made his first step and learned to walk. Of course at that time you don't feel the success but it was a big achievement. The will was there and the baby never gave up. That's what every person needs to have, the will.

The next step is having success in school. The students always try to give their best in every exam. But not everyone will get a good mark. If they don't get a good mark, that will be a good motivation to be good or even the best in the class in the next exam. You can see there is an intrinsic motivation to be the best.

After having success in school you have to get success in the next stage of your life. As an adult you start working. There you earn first some money and if you work long enough as a result you will get a promotion and earn more money. But before you reach this, you will for sure go through ups and downs. That means you shouldn't give up and consistently stay on the ball. Beyond that, it is important to stay positive and to have the will for the achievement. In this way you will be successful in your job and be able to do more in your life. For example you can buy your dreamcar, a new house or something you have ever wanted to have. Everything depends on how well you work for it.

Not only in your job you meet success. In sports everyone sees how hard they work to achieve their aim, for example participating in a grand tournament. For some people it might already be a success if they are participating in a tournament, for others not until they will the first place. So everyone has a different aim on a different level to achieve.

Success is not something which knocks on the door and comes to you. You as a person have to work hard for it. There will be several steps in between before you even achieve your goal. So just don't give up and continue working. There has to be your will, that you want to achieve something. Your motivation is also a big factor to reach your goal. It can be intrinsic or even extrinsic. At the end it doesn't matter when or at what age you get your success. It just depends if you have worked for it. Once you reach your life goal you will never stop being successful. Never ever give up, as a result you will be successful. At the end of your life you can be proud of yourself when you look back and remember how successful you were.
